Getting Lit

As a new minister, I wanted my first holiday services to be both attractive and meaningful.

The Christmas Eve service included a candle-lighting ceremony in which each congregant lit a candle from his neighbor's candle. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the congregation sat hushed, pondering the beauty of the moment.

I rose to announce a hymn and was taken completely by surprise when laughter broke out in response to my invitation:

"Now that everyone is lit, let's sing joy to the world."
